

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

REPORT OF SECRETARY OF STATE.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE.
AUSTIN, TEXAS, December 31, 1900.

To His Excellency, the Governor:

I have the honor to submit the following biennial report, embracing the transactions of this department from January 1, 1899, to this date, including a period, towit: from January 1, 1899, to January 16, 1899, inclusive, being the time between the biennial report of my predecessor and the day on which you entered into office as Governor of Texas.

All your official acts as Governor of the State have been registered and recorded in accordance with the laws of the State.

This report contains the returns of an election held on the 6th day of November, A. D. 1900, throughout the State of Texas, under and by virtue of your proclamation of date the 13th day of August, A. D. 1900; giving the vote by counties for electors for President and Vice-President of the United States; for Governor and Lieutenant Governor; all other elective State officers; all members of Congress; one Railroad Commissioner; one chief justice of the Supreme Court; one associate justice of the Supreme Court; one justice of the Court of Criminal Appeals; two associate justices of the Court of Civil Appeals of the First Supreme Judicial District at Galveston; one associate justice for the Court of Civil Appeals of the Second Supreme Judicial District at Fort Worth; one chief justice for each of the Courts of Civil Appeals of the Third and Fourth Supreme Judicial Districts at Austin and San Antonio, respectively; one chief justice and two associate justices of the Court of Civil Appeals of the Fifth Supreme Judicial District at Dallas; one proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State, and all district judges and district attorneys elected at such election; the names of all State senators and representatives, and the names of all county and precinct officers, whose election have been certified to this office; a list of all charters of domestic corporations filed since December 31, 1898; a list of all charters of railroad corporations filed since said date; a list of all railroad corporations upon whose valuations reports have been filed in this department by the Railroad Commission since said date; a list of all railroad bonds registered in this department since said date; all amendments to railroad charters filed since said date; a list of all foreign corporations which have filed certified copies of their articles of incorporation in this office with application for permit to do business in the State of Texas since said date, and which secured such permits; a list of all commissioners of deeds appointed since said date; a list of all charters of domestic corporations and permits of all foreign corporations which have been forfeited for non-payment of the franchise taxes for the years 1899 and 1900, and a list of all domestic corporations whose rights to do business in the State of Texas, reported as forfeited in former reports, have been revived since January 18, 1899. Also a list of the inventories filed in this department by the various officers in the State under the direction of the Act approved the 5th day of June, A. D. 1899.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

The statement accompanying and included in this report shows a very extraordinary increase in the receipts of this department since January 1, 1899, over that of the next preceding two years, or any other period of two years. This increase consists chiefly of two items, to wit: franchise taxes collected, and the charter and permit fees. In the statement of finances, the items of trade mark and railroad leases are included in the items of certified copies and certificates.

It will be noticed that the receipts of this office since January 17, 1899, to December 31, 1900, inclusive of both, being twenty-three and one-half months, are $294,642.41, being an excess of $117,653.34 over the receipts for the preceding period of twenty-five months, to wit: from December 1, 1896, to January 1, 1899. The total receipts from January 1, 1899, to December 31, 1900, are $298,161.49, whereas the receipts for the preceding twenty-five months were $176,989.07.

EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY.

The records of the department show that for the period from January 17, 1899, to December 31, 1900, you have granted pardons in 798 felony cases, including in this number 415 restorations to citizenship, some of which were granted after the expiration of terms of imprisonment; that you have granted remissions of fines, imprisonment penalties and forfeitures in 145 cases, and commutations of death sentences in four cases.

FRANCHISE TAXES AND CHARTER FEES.

I beg to call your attention to the peculiar condition of the statute with reference to charter fees and franchise taxes, drawing a comparison between those laid upon domestic and those laid upon foreign corporations.

Article 2439 of the Revised Statutes on domestic corporations for profit, provides a filing fee absolute of $25.00, and in addition to this, $5.00 for each $10,000, or fractional part thereof, above the first $10,000, and nowhere places a limit on the maximum filing fee. The same article on foreign corporations fixes a fee of $25.00 on a capital stock of $100,000 or less, and a fee of $50.00 on a capital stock of more than $100,000, and less than $500,000; and on $500,000 and less than $1,000,000 a fee of $100; and if it exceeds $1,000,000, a fee of $200. This is a maximum filing fee on foreign corporations. It will be easily seen, therefore, that this statute discriminates against domestic corporations on the point of charges made for filing fees. As for instance, a foreign corporation with a capital stock of $2,000,000 would have to pay a filing fee of $200, whereas a domestic corporation with a capital stock of $2,000,000 would have to pay a filing fee of $1,020. Illustrating with a smaller capital, a foreign corporation with a capital stock of $200,000 would have to pay a filing fee of $50.00, whereas a domestic corporation with a capital stock of $200,000 would have to pay a filing fee of $120. It occurs to me that this is an inequality that ought to be remedied. It is not believed that it was ever the intention of the law-makers of the State to facilitate the operation of larger amounts of capital in this State by foreign corporations than by domestic ones.

And while upon this subject, it might be advisable to call your attention to the discrepancy of the franchise taxes paid by domestic corporations and foreign corporations. Article 5243i, as amended by the Twenty-fifth Legislature, provides a maximum franchise tax on domestic corporations of $50.00, whereas upon foreign corporations the franchise tax is graded according to the capital stock. It occurs to me that the rule applied to foreign corporations could be likewise equitably applied to domestic corporations on franchise taxes. I feel quite satisfied that such changes in this statute would not only be more just to the industries in the State conducted by corporations, but would also be beneficial to the State's revenues arising from this source.

LAWS.

The statutes, both general and special, passed at the Regular and Called Session of the Twenty-sixth Legislature were duly printed and distributed in accordance with the laws of the State. In the distribution of the same I have construed Article 2439 of the Revised Statutes, in which it says that the Secretary of State "shall not be required" to forward copies of laws to "nor attest the authority of" any officer of this State who fails and refuses to take out his commission, as if it were mandatory. My predecessor, Mr. Secretary Madden, in his biennial report of date December 31, 1898, called attention to this feature of the law, and recommended that the statute should be so amended as to read "authorized" where it now reads "required." I have thought that to construe the word "required" as giving discretion to the Secretary of State was beyond the intention of the Legislature. That construction would imply that the property of the State was put into the hands of the Secretary of State, with discretion on his part to discriminate between persons, favoring those whomsoever he liked, and refusing to favor whom he chose. It occurred to me, therefore, that this word "required" was intended only to lay down a uniform rule.

Again, in defining what are the duties of the Secretary of State as made by this statute, it was easy to reason that if compensation to the officer collecting the fees was derived, as in the case of certain county and precinct officers, as well as some few State officers, from fees and office charges, and it was permitted to him to make these charges for his own emolument, that there has hardly been a Secretary of State who would not have exercised the discretion of requiring all officers to take out their commission and pay the fee of $1.00 therefor before they could receive the statutes and laws free, and have their acts authenticated. These fees thus realized would amount to about $6,000 in two years, and since they go into the coffers of the State, I have construed that it is no less the duty of the Secretary of State, under this statute, to require the taking out of this commission and the payment of the commission fee for the benefit of the State.

However, if it should be construed that the word "required" in the statute is of doubtful force, I concur in the suggestion that the statute be amended so as to read "not be authorized" instead of "not be required."

-COURT REPORTS.

The inventory hereinafter following shows the number of volumes of reports of each the Supreme Court, the Court of Civil Appeals, the Court of Criminal Appeals, as well as the Revised Statutes of 1895 now on hand. Since the passage of the concurrent resolution by the Twenty-fifth Legislature authorizing the Printing Board to contract for reprinting the exhausted volumes of reports from the plates owned by the State, Volumes 72 to 86, Supreme Court Reports, have been contracted to be published by Eugene Von Boeckmann Publishing Company of Austin. Since that time, however, Volumes 87 and 88 have also been exhausted, and contract, made after the manner provided by said concurrent resolution, was entered into with the same company for reprinting said volumes at a price to the public of $1.75 per volume.

Upon the subject of court reports, I beg to call attention to the inventory hereto attached, showing the number of volumes from Dallam up to 71 Texas, now owned by the State. It will be perceived that Volumes 2, 3, 4, 5, 7 and 8, 10, 11, 13, 27, 55, 56, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64 and 65 are entirely exhausted. These volumes were printed before the method known as the electrotype plate system was adopted in 1889. While the State has none of the volumes from 72 to 84, inclusive, they are embraced as are 85, 86, 87 and 88 in the contract for republication from the plates owned by the State with the Von Boeckmann Company. It will also be noticed that Volumes 6, 9, 12, 14, 15, 16, 19, 47, 52, 54, 57, 58 and 70 are practically exhausted. And yet, of other volumes, there are quite a number on hand.

An opinion from the Attorney General advises me that there is no statute in the State of Texas that authorizes the sale of any of these books, Supreme Court Reports from Dallam to 56, inclusive, being printed prior to the Act of 1882, and that the only purpose to which they could be placed is to be held in the possession of the State and distributed to the courts under the statutes as they may be needed. The only utility, therefore, of these books would be made under some statute creating a new court, which would be entitled to a set of the reports, and under Article 2807 of the Revised Statutes, that upon proof that any such reports have been destroyed by fire or rendered valueless by long use, they may be resupplied. The result of this construction of the statutes is that this list of Texas Supreme Court Reports from Dallam to 56, inclusive, as aforesaid, has practically remained in the basement of this department for so many years that many of them are destroyed by book vermin. It is believed that a statute authorizing the sale of these volumes so as not to exhaust the stock below, say twenty-five volumes of each, in the hands of the State, would be a statute simply saving property to the State. On the question of price, while it is true these books cost a great deal more at the time of the original printing than it would cost now to publish them, still it is believed that a price of $2.00 per volume, being that which is fixed upon Volumes 89 to 93 of the Supreme Court Reports, as well as on the reports of the other higher courts, would be a proper valuation. These books were printed many years ago, when the cost of book-making was largely in excess of what it is now. The whole truth is, that if the State should republish these volumes, in their present damaged condition, those on hand could not command a market price of $2.00 per volume.

At this point I wish also to call your Excellency's attention to the method under which the book printing is done by the State. The system is known as the electrotype plate system instituted by the Act of 1889, and consists of the casting of plates of type in soft metal, facing it with copper, and from these plates, printing the books. It is believed that this system is becoming not only obsolete under the improved methods of book-making of the day, but it also becoming an unnecessary burden and expense to the State. My information, limited I confess, is to the effect that the system is not now in use except in those instances where the publications of a single issue utterly wears out the electrotype plates prepared for the same. The State now owns the plates from 72 Texas Supreme Court Reports up to the last number, to wit, 93; in all twenty-two volumes of Supreme Court Reports; and also owns all the plates of the Court of Civil Appeals Reports, consisting of twenty-two volumes, and also of the Criminal Appeals Reports from Volume 28 to 40, inclusive, consisting of thirteen volumes. These plates themselves occupy the upper section of one of the vaults in this department wholly, with a part of them stored in the store room or basement of this department. One thousand volumes of each of the Court Reports above named were so published originally, and it is believed that the method of publishing them by the electrotype plate system makes the cost of publishing quite one-third more than it would cost under the modern system of typesetting now in use. Besides this, a thousand volumes of each report are not exhausted in a number of years, I might venture to say, eight or ten years; and during all of this time the amount of capital belonging to the State invested in this electrotype plate system lies idle and useless. Volume 72 of the Supreme Court Reports is the first volume that was electrotyped under the Act of 1889. The plates for that and for the succeeding volumes as they were issued were made and placed in the vaults of this department, and yet, not until 1898, a period of nine years, were these plates called into use again for the republishing of these volumes. It is believed that the modern inventions in typesetting have reached the point where book making without electrotype plates has become the cheaper method of the two, considering all of the material used and the idle capital involved in the existence of the electrotype plates.

Further than this, under the system of advertising for reprinting the reports upon the electrotype plates of the State, the competition is necessarily confined to about two firms in the State. There are in fact about two firms of the State that are prepared to reprint from the electrotype plates belonging to the State. The statutes require that the work be done in this State. In truth, under the direction of the Printing Board, being authorized by the original contract with the Von Boeckmann Publishing Company to do so, readvertisement for a new contract to publish the reports from 72 to 86 Texas was made (not because the publication by the Von Boeckmann Company was exhausted, but because the imperative term of years named in the contract had expired, though by its terms, the contract absolutely holds good until a new one is made). The Board received not a solitary bid from citizens within the State of Texas to make this republication. The reason why the Von Boeckmann Publishing Company did not bid, was, they said, because they had on hand a large quantity of the books republished by them under the recent contract. It is, therefore, confidently asserted that under the modern system of book making, which would cost, as hereinabove stated, one-third less than the electrotype plate system, the competition for the contract in all probability would be lively and active. I am advised by the State Expert Printer that all of the volumes of the Supreme Court Reports from Dallam up to 72, for which there are no electrotype plates, in their present form, not being as large books as the later volumes of reports, could be republished without the electrotype plate system, for about $1.10 per volume in reasonable quantities. It is the estimate of the Expert Printer that the electrotype plates now belonging to the State, and stored in the vaults of this department, represent an investment on the part of the State of about $20,000, and he further expresses the opinion that when they are used for the reprinting, that their advantage does not equal what is combinely represented by their original cost and the interest on the money invested in them. Since the passage of this electrotype plate law, requiring the use of copper facing, the price of copper has very largely increased, thereby adding an additional value to the cost of the plates, whereas, under the progressive improvements continually being made in practical printing, and particularly under the system of linotype machines, printing has gradually gotten cheaper. The Expert Printer expresses the opinion that the probabilities are that the reduction in the cost of typesetting will be greater the next ten years than in the past ten years, and that electrotyping, as used for economy in book making, will have been wholly abandoned, except in the printing of such large issues, where, as hereinabove stated, the printing of such issues absolutely wears out the electrotype plates themselves. My suggestion is that the last line of Section 6 of the said Act of March 6, 1899, saying "It shall be electrotyped," etc., should be repealed. This is found in Article 964 of the Revised Statutes.

It is further suggested upon this subject, that if your Excellency should deem it advisable to so suggest to the Legislature, and the Legislature should see fit to so revise the method of publishing the Court Reports, it would then become opportune also to expand the act so as to reprint the Supreme Court Reports from Dallam up to 56, inclusive, and provide for the sale of the same by the State to the public. These books republished by the State could be readily sold and would also facilitate the sale of the stock now on hand belonging to the State, and being destroyed by book vermin in the basement of this department. I believe that it would be beneficial legislation. While there would be an appearance of an outlay on the part of the State, nevertheless, it is merely one of those instances where the State simply pays out money to receive not only the original investment back again, but enough to cover all the incidental expenses connected with the same, and also to facilitate other sales of books on hand. In addition to this, the legal profession of the State will be enabled to procure the past decisions of the Supreme Court of the State of Texas. At the present time, these books, that is, from Dallam to 56 Texas, inclusive, can be procured by the profession from the Gilbert Book Company, of St. Louis, Mo., alone, and at a price far above what they ought to cost the profession.

STORE ROOM.

Before leaving this subject, I feel it advisable to renew the recommendation of my immediate predecessor with reference to the store room of the State Department. I beg the privilege herewith to include his recommendation under quotation, with my endorsement. Under the statutes of the State, all of the statutes and court reports of the State are required to be kept by the Secretary of State, and this store room is the repository for the same. It must be understood that none of the archives of the State or of the Republic are contained in this store room, and it is believed that there is nothing of value to the State contained therein, except the statutes, court reports and current reports of departments. The quotation from Mr. Madden is as follows:

"A large part of the contents of this basement is, in my judgment, purely rubbish, and of little or no value to the State, or any one else. It contains department reports and other similar documents which go back for many years, and which will never be used, but no law, so far as I am aware, exists for their forced sale or destruction. I, therefore, recommend the passage of an act, or a concurrent resolution by the Legislature, authorizing and requiring the Secretary of State to sell all of such old documents as are regarded of no value, if he can, in any manner which he may deem best, and if no purchaser can be found, then said officer shall be authorized to destroy them. This will help to make room for the new matter constantly coming in, and will afford at least temporary relief from the now congested condition of the basement."

AMENDMENTS TO STATUTES.

The usual philosophical rule made by the framers of Constitutions analytically divide government into three branches, to wit: the Executive, the Legislative, and the Judicial. This division is natural, is wise and time honored; yet, in the actual administration of government, and in its practical operations, it seems to divide itself into two parts.

The first part is that of devising measures of wisdom for the good of the people in the enactment of new laws, and also in the repeal or correction of old laws, where experience has proven their policy to be unavailing or baneful in effect. These are the duties of the head of the government, the Executive, and of the Legislative.

The second part is that of administering the system of laws as they exist, already provided and approved by the Executive and the Legislature. This is done by the heads of departments, executive officers and the courts.

It has always been the case in Texas, and I have little doubt has always been the case in every other State, that of the system of laws in hand whose provisions are approved, as calculated to promote the welfare of the people, nevertheless, many enactments contain such defects and imperfections that they fail to reach the full intent of the law-making power. The Constitution recognizes this fact in making provisions for revision and digest of the laws.

It has occurred to me that this requirement of the Constitution would be much facilitated, and much cost to the State in executing the same saved, if the departments charged with the execution of the laws, would accurately and faithfully report to your Excellency such features of the statute as they have found practically unenforceable or insufficient to reach the evident intent and aim of the lawmaking power. It has occurred to me that no one can more intelligently judge of defects of a statute than that officer who is charged with the duty of administering or executing it, and that to him comes more quickly and more certainly the defects and the difficulties contained in it, where it is defective, than to anyone else. Taking these views, I have thought it my duty to suggest to you my conception of defects in those statutes having relation to the duties and official acts of the Secretary of State, and to them only.

In the absence of a revision of the entire Chapter 1, of Title 52, of the Revised Statutes, appertaining to the duties of the Secretary of State, attention is called to Article 2808, which undertakes to provide for the distribution of the general and special laws passed by each Legislature. It names the Governor and heads of departments, members of the Legislature, judges of the courts and clerks and county attorney. It is a very doubtful question as to whether or not the Secretary of State is authorized by this statute to furnish these laws free of cost to the heads of the various institutions of the State. Certainly they need to have the statutes as well as any officer named. Besides this, there are many other officers executing duties in the State today to whom it is not provided by this article to distribute the statutes. Title 52 of the Revised Statutes constitutes a title on the Heads of Departments, and, therefore, would seem to indicate what is meant by "Heads of Departments." It includes only the Comptroller of Public Accounts, State Treasurer, Commissioner of the General Land Office, the Attorney General, the Commissioner of Agriculture, Insurance, Statistics, and History, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the Secretary of State. It does not include the Adjutant General, the State Revenue Agent, the Superintendent of Public Buildings and Grounds, the State Health Officer, the Fish Commissioner, the Railroad Commissioner and many other State officers. This statute, Article 2808, does not even include district attorneys. It proceeds in the next paragraph to state the county officers. It names county attorney, treasurer, surveyor, sheriff, assessor, collector, inspector of hides and animals, justices of the peace, constable and commissioner. It does not name county superintendent of instruction, quarantine officers, and many other county officers that could be named. These officers, both State and county, not named in this statute, of course needing the acts of the Legislatures as they are passed, as badly as another, have made constant clamor to be supplied with them. The article ought to be so amended as to include all of the officers of the State, since its policy begins at the top with the Governor and reaches to the constable of the preceinct. The chain of officers as named in the statute is not complete between the two.

Again, I call attention to the inconsistency of Article 1812, in providing for the distribution of the Revised Statutes. It provides for distribution to each judge of the Supreme Court and district courts and Courts of Appeals, and to their clerks and to each justice of the peace. This statute makes no provision for distribution of revision or Revised Statutes to any other officers. Yet, Article 2813 proceeds to say that the Secretary of State shall deliver to each of the executive officers at the seat of government one copy of each of the volumes, but there is no provision for any other officer in the State, except such as is named in these two articles.

I call attention to another hiatus with reference to furnishing laws to officers within the State. Article 2807 of the Revised Statutes provides a method for refurnishing to many State and district officers, as well as Federal officers, the reports of the courts of the State, which may have been destroyed by fire or rendered valueless by long use. The statutes of the State constituting the digest or revision, as well as the legislative acts, volume for volume, are handled as many times as the reports of the court, and are certainly as subject to destruction by fire. There is no statute providing how a copy of the Revised Statutes or a copy of the legislative acts can be resupplied to any officer, where destroyed by fire or rendered valueless by long use. This omission ought to be supplied, for many officers have made demands in this line, suffering for the want of the statutes without any fault upon their own part.

I will also call attention to a paragraph of Article 2813, which, in view of Article 2814, appears to be surplusage, and as such calculated to cast some doubt upon Articles 2812 and 2808, and that is the closing paragraph of Article 2813, to wit:

“And the officer receiving any such volume shall be bound to deliver it to his successor, and shall be liable to pay his successor the costs and charges that may be necessary to supply the office with any book he may neglect so to deliver.”

This provision as found in Article 2814 will embrace and apply to the whole subject, but as found in Article 2813 it appears as a useless specification, calculated only to create confusion.

Attention is also called to Article 2811. The same difficulty is found in the definition of the word “departments,” and here it is opportune to remark that in construing Articles 2808 and 2811, under the advice of the Attorney General, I have included all State institutions; but I apprehend from the advice given me that much additional safety would have been felt if the statute had mentioned these institutions and other officers, in addition to those that it does name.

I call attention to the fact that Article 2811 nowhere fixes a price on the printed journals of the House and Senate, and nowhere authorizes the sale of the same. Under Article 4228, of the Revised Statutes, it is required that one thousand copies of the journals of each house shall be published. The free distribution is named in Article 2811. It has been the custom of the Secretary of State heretofore, as I am informed, to distribute free of cost these House and Senate journals to whomsoever made demand for them. In truth, the demand for them is large, and upon that basis, it is "first come first served." The publications are not only valuable in a library, but they cost the State very heavily. The price of the House Journal of the Regular Session of the Twenty-sixth Legislature in paper back was $2.50, in sheep $3.25. The cost of the Senate Journal of the same Legislature in paper was $1.75, in sheep $2.50. The demand, therefore, for these books being so great, and the cost of their printing being so great, the Printing Board in August and September, 1899, passed resolutions directing the Secretary of State not to furnish them free of cost to any person, except to those named in said Article 1811; and fixing a price upon the same, to wit: the cost of publication, and requiring the Secretary of State to sell the same. This action, I believe, was wise, and I think the statute ought to be so amended as to cover the proposition of the Printing Board.

I wish also to call attention to an apparent incongruity between Article 2804 and Articles 4241 and 4242, Article 2804 requiring the Secretary of State to have the enrolled bills well bound in the form of a book, and to deliver a certified copy thereof to the public printer, whereas Articles 4241 and 4242 require simply that he deliver copies of the laws to the printer, and see to it that they are correctly printed, and have a certificate appended and printed in connection with such publication. Article 2804 is of an Act of 1821, and Articles 4241 and 4242 are of an Act of 1876.

Before leaving Chapter 1, Title 52, I would suggest that Article 2817 should be so amended as to read as follows:

"Article 2817. In the absence of the Secretary of State from the Capital City, or in case of his inability to act from any cause, the Chief Clerk may perform all the duties required by law of that officer, and at all times may, under the direction of the Secretary of State, sign the name of the Secretary of State to any certificates, paper and documents emanating from his department, by himself as Chief Clerk."

This would permit of the issuance of receipts, certificates and the like without awaiting the opportunity of the head of the department, who might be temporarily engaged in a board meeting or some other business of pressing importance.

EXPERT PRINTER.

I call attention to Article 163 of the Revised Statutes, which provides for the employment by the Board of Public Printing of a practical printer as an instructor in the art of printing in the Deaf and Dumb Asylum. Article 164 provides that he may be discharged at any time at the pleasure of the Board of Public Printing. This statute appears to me to be partially obsolete, or to be repealed by Article 4222 of the Revised Statutes. The instructor in public printing seems to be appointed by the superintendent of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum, notwithstanding Article 163 of the Revised Statutes, and Article 4222, is likewise defective in that it states that the Expert Printer employed by the Board of Public Printing shall also be ex-officio instructor in the art of public printing at the Deaf and Dumb Asylum. These statutes in this respect are obsolete, for the Expert Printer, as employed now by the Board of Public Printing, is not the instructor at the Deaf and Dumb Asylum, and could not possibly perform the duties required of him by Article 4222 and act as instructor of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum. Articles 163 and 164 ought to be so amended as to eliminate these inaccuracies, and Article 4222 ought to be so amended as to leave out the provision for the Expert Printer acting as instructor in the Deaf and Dumb Asylum, and ought to provide further that he shall act as clerk to the Printing Board. For a number of years past the Legislature has biennially made an appropriation to pay him for his services as such clerk to the Printing Board, and he has acted in that capacity under no other statute than the provisions in the appropriation bill. Article 4222 being amended as suggested, Article 4220 ought to be so amended as to require the clerk of the Printing Board to keep a record of the proceedings of the Board, and of all acts done by the Board in connection with the public printing under the provisions of this title, and under the supervision of the Secretary of State.

MAXIMUM RATES OF STATIONERY.

I call attention to Article 4225, laying down maximum rates for stationery to be furnished by contract as provided in the title upon public printing. The maximum rates therein stated are all obsolete. If they were cut practically half in two, they would then be large maximum rates in comparison with the market prices of today.

FUEL FOR THE CAPITOL BUILDING.

I beg further to call your attention to Chapter 7 of Title 52 under "Heads of Departments." Immediately upon taking charge of my duties as Secretary of State, I investigated the system of past administrations as to the law found in Chapter 7 of said Title 52, relating to the mode of supplying fuel to the "Executive and other departments." I was advised that this statute had not been administered by the officers of the government for a number of years past. The attention of the Superintendent of Public Buildings and Grounds was attracted to this subject, and he submitted an inquiry to the Attorney General, asking if this statute was still in force. The Attorney General responded that it was a statute still in force, providing the mode of supplying the fuel to the "Executive and other departments." Since that time the Attorney General, the State Treasurer and the Secretary of State, by virtue of this statute, have constituted a fuel board, and have made contracts for fuel in accordance with the statute, the fuel consisting exclusively of coal. While the chapter undertakes to fix a maximum price "per cord for dry cedar," and "per cord for dry oak" and "other kinds of wood except cedar," it nowhere mentions coal. I deem it advisable to call your attention to this subject, in connection with the Act approved 19th day of April, 1899, establishing a Purchasing Agent for the eleemosynary institutions of the State. The duties of this office embraces the purchase of fuel for the institutions, and in the proper performance of them he has occasion to purchase large quantities of coal.

This statute (Ch. 7, Title 52), was passed in 1876, long prior to the building of the present capitol building. At that time, the departments were heated by different system from that now in existence. It seems that each department looked after its own heating appointments, and required to be supplied separately with quantities of fuel. The statute was made applicable to that condition, and in truth, has no practical fitting to the method of heating the departments and the halls of the capitol building at this time, the heating now all being done by the modern system of steam heating supplied from a central power, known as the government power house. The matter of heating the capitol building is in charge of the Superintendent of Public Buildings and Grounds, and the State Purchasing Agent could as easily contract for the coal that he needs as he does for the coal needed by the various heads of institutions of the State, who look after the comfort of their respective institutions. It occurs to me forcibly that the purchase of this fuel for the Executive and other departments could be well handled if placed in the hands of the Purchasing Agent without placing any additional burdens on him, and would save the State money in the expense of the fuel, since he necessarily purchases in very large quantities, and at all times keeps himself fully advised upon the price of such commodities. The only possible obstacle that confronts me in making these suggestions is that Section 21 of Article 16 of the Constitution of the State provides that all fuel used in the legislative and other departments of the government, except the judicial departments, shall be furnished under contract to be given to the lowest responsible bidder below a maximum price, and under such regulations as are prescribed by law. But it occurs to me that probably this constitutional provision would not forbid placing this matter in the hands of the State Purchasing Agent. I might further add that practical experience for two years persuades me that the Treasurer of the State and the Attorney General and the Secretary of State are not at all times up-to-date on the fickle values of a fluctuating coal market, in large quantities.

INVENTORY OF PERSONAL PROPERTY.

I also suggest that the act directing the filing of inventories of personal property belonging to the State in the hands of the various officers of the State, from Governor to constable, in the office of the Secretary of State, be so amended as to eliminate the necessity of spreading such inventories on a record. It is quite sufficient to have the inventories filed. The work of transcribing them to a record appears as practically useless. This was conceded by the chairman of the committee who had the bill in charge in the Twenty-sixth Legislature, when his attention was called to it, but unfortunately the opportunity to present the matter to him did not occur in time to save this feature of the bill. Further, it will require the time and service of one separate clerk, for a whole year, every second year, in my estimation, to attend to the work of this transcribing, if all the officers of the State comply with the law and send in the inventories required by the act. Not so many as half of them up to this time have complied with the act, and yet this work of transcribing these inventories received is not completed in the office for the want of sufficient force and time.

ELECTION LAWS.

The duty of the Secretary of State is much involved with the election laws of the State. Upon this subject I would first call your attention to the fact that there is no statute fixing a time for the holding of the general elections for State and county officers of the State. It may not be generally known that this is the fact, but it is true. Elections are always held in this State every two years on the first Tuesday next after the first Monday in November, and yet this day is not fixed by any statute, but is only derived from Article 1811, stating that a general election shall be held for electors for President and Vice-President on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November every four years. I would, therefore, suggest that Article 1702 of the Revised Statutes, having reference to general elections in the State for State and county officers, should be so amended as to read as follows:

"General elections shall be held in the State of Texas every two years on the first Tuesday next after the first Monday in November at such places and under such regulations as may be prescribed by law."

Again, I call attention to the fact that while Article 1722 provides that the Governor shall by proclamation order elections for State and district officers, and for electors for President and Vice-President, members of Congress and the Legislature, and all others requiring to be ordered by him of the Constitution or laws of the State, still there is nowhere in the statutes to be found any article upon the subject of the Governor's proclamation of elections that compares with Article 1819, providing for his proclamation for an election of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States. And while Article 1728 provides a time for the notice of such elections ordered by county judges for county officers, and Article 1819 provides that the proclamation for an election for electors for President and Vice-President shall be published forty days before an election, there is no statute providing a length of time for which the proclamation shall issue or be published for the election of State and district officers.

FORFEITURE STATUTE.

What I have said heretofore in this connection, appears to be sufficient on Article 2439, as to filing fee on corporations, and also on Article 5243i as to the franchise taxes of corporations.

I would call your attention to Article 5243j, as amended by the Act of 1897. The act, after providing the method of notice to corporations of their franchise taxes and the publication of the fact of forfeiture, proceeds to provide a method by which the rights of corporations to do business in Texas, both domestic and foreign, which have been forfeited, may be revived. It says: "That any corporation which shall, within six months after such publication, pay the tax and $5.00 additional thereto for each month of fractional part of the month, which shall elapse after such forfeiture, shall be relieved from the forfeiture of its right to do business," etc. This statute has been construed by the Attorney General to operate in different ways upon domestic and foreign corporations respectively. That is to say, that since a domestic corporation is a creature of the State, its existence as a corporation as contra-distinguished from its right to do business, is subject to forfeiture only by the proper legal remedies and processes in court, but that this statute does not denounce a forfeiture of the charter existence of a domestic corporation; it only provides for the forfeiture of its right to do business in the State for failure to pay its taxes. Further, that foreign corporations have but one feature subject to forfeiture in the State, and that is their right to do business in the State; that the permit issued by the State to foreign corporations, upon complying with Article 745, is the authority of the State for it to do business in this State, and when it has been forfeited in accordance with Article 5243j, its legal existence as well as its right to do business in this State, so far as the State is concerned, has been cut off. In consequence, it is ruled that where a foreign corporation has failed to pay its franchise taxes and a forfeiture has been ordered against it, unless within the six months period named by this statute it pays up its back taxes and the $5.00 penalty, such foreign corporation is required to make entirely new application for permit, and cannot revive by the payment of such back taxes and penalties merely after the expiration of said six months. But, as to domestic corporations, it is held that such corporations have the right at any time after forfeiture entered against them, without regard to a six months period, to pay up back taxes and the penalties of $5.00 per month and be revived. A perusal of this Article 5243j under this construction of the Attorney General will suggest a state of confusion, and that it might be well to have it remedied by direct legislation. If a domestic corporation permits the six months period to expire after the publication of forfeiture, it must then lie still as a dormant corporation without the right to do any business, with its account held open on the books of this department, subject only to absolute forfeiture of its charter by proceedings in court on the part of the State, or else it must have a method by which it can revive itself after the six months period. It appears to me that the Attorney General's construction is almost ex necessitate rei. That the State should be required through its Attorney General or district or county attorneys to institute proceedings of quo warranto against all of these dormant corporations, merely to put them out of existence, would be a burden and cost upon the State; and since it is at best doubtful under any present construction whether or not a charter (as contradistinguished from a right to do business) could be forfeited other than by the courts upon hearing, it appears to be necessary that some remedy should be provided for these corporations after their six months dereliction. It is my opinion, based upon experience, that many of them default unintentionally. My suggestion would be that this statute more clearly separate the rule as to domestic and foreign corporations, respectively, and that it clearly set forth what is intended as to domestic corporations, for I feel in duty bound to suggest that the present and the preceding administrations of the Attorney General's office appear not to have been agreed upon the construction of this statute. I say this, not in disparagement of either opinion, but merely in duty bound, setting forth the fact. My suggestion, if permitted, would go further, to the extent that a statute be provided, bearing directly upon the persons of the officers and directors of such domestic corporations that fail to pay their franchise taxes, and, also, at the same time, fail to go into voluntary liquidation; so as to compel them to take one course or the other upon notice from the Secretary of State, without forcing the State to the arduous and expensive duty of instituting quo warranto proceedings against them. The difficulties of administering these statutes with reference to corporations have impressed me forcibly with the necessity of making these suggestions to your Excellency. There have been since January, 1899, and long prior to that time, many corporate accounts on the books of this department where forfeiture was entered in accordance with the statute, yet, these accounts could not be closed by any process except by a dissolution of the corporation in some way. Upon calling your Excellency's attention to these matters and to the desirability of having the books of this department clear of these old accounts, you directed me to give you a list of such corporations, which I am advised was placed by you in the hands of the State Revenue Agent, with a view of looking into these matters, upon my suggestion to you that the demands upon the force in the office was so great that I could not reach the matter. Since that time, a number of such corporations have paid up their back taxes and penalties, and quite a number of others have been induced to send in resolutions of voluntary dissolution. There are yet many such accounts on the books unsettled in either way.

INCORPORATING STATUTES.

I beg to call attention again to another statute, the construction of which has caused some difficulty, and been involved in some doubt in its administration by me, and that is Article 743 of the Revised Statutes, providing the elements of a charter of a corporation. This article has been standing unchanged so far as I am advised since its original passage, to wit, in 1874. The great number of domestic charters that have been presented for filing since January 18, 1899, has forcibly brought to the front the difficulty of construing Subdivision 3 of said Article 643. This would not appear at first merely on reading the article and subdivision, but when the articles of incorporation are presented for filing, it is found that one set of compilers will take one construction of this subdivision and another set entirely a different construction, and yet it is simply a matter of construction to determine which of the two is best. One set construes this subdivision to have reference to the place or places where the office of the corporation is to be maintained; another, to the place or places where the actual operations of the corporation are to be had. To illustrate, a corporation formed under Subdivision 51, of Article 642, for raising, buying and selling of live stock, might have its office at Austin, Texas, and its ranch, whereon is kept its live stock, in a far distant county. It would be in the interest of an easier administration of this department, and to the convenience of the public, if this Subdivision 3 was so amended as to confirm which of these two constructions is to be placed upon it. It occurs to me that either one would be sufficient, but it also occurs to me that both constructions cannot be maintained at one and the same time. And yet, one set of incorporators will want and insist, from their own business standpoint, upon one construction, and the other, for the same reasons and for the same self-interests, will insist upon the other construction. I have, under the advice of the Attorney General, construed said subdivision to mean the places where the actual operations of the corporations are to be carried on, as contradistinguished from the places where the offices of the corporation are to be kept. The Supreme Court holds that this article does not mean the "principal office" of the corporation. I am also advised that the Attorney General's department and the former administration of that office are not agreed upon this construction, and would also state that it appears that my immediate predecessor did not place the same construction upon it that I do. The consequence is that it has created some confusion among those who are called upon to give advice and prepare charters for corporations.

I desire to call attention to Article 642 of the Revised Statutes, as amended in 1897. It is the statute declaring the purposes for which corporations may be created. A great deal of difficulty has been confronted in the administration of this statute, with reference to what is its meaning, and its intended limitation, as to the objects or "purpose" for which a single corporation may be formed. The construction has been placed upon this statute by the Attorney General, in which I fully concur, that a single corporation may be formed but for such objects, as its purpose, as is contained in some one (and only one) subdivision of said Article 642. The reasons for this construction are quite conclusive to my mind, for if it was not the intention of the statute to limit the objects for which a corporation may be formed, as the purpose of its organization, to one of said subdivisions, then a charter could reasonably be presented for filing which contained all of the fifty-five subdivisions named in said article 642. It is a necessary conclusion that either one or the other of these constructions must be placed upon this statute, that is, to limit each charter to one subdivision, or permit the whole fifty-five if asked. It is not my purpose here to make any argument upon the matter, and I go no further than to call attention to the fact that Subdivision 2, of Article 643, Revised Statutes, prescribing what must be contained in the charter, uses the single number in saying the "purpose" for which it is formed. It is believed that the statutes construed as the Attorney General has construed it, and as I have administered it, is a very liberal statute in favor of private corporations for profit. If this statute were to be construed so as to allow one corporation to be formed covering the objects named in all of the fifty-five subdivisions, it would constitute a very formidable power in concentrating competition in all of these industries with individual enterprise. Competition in trade, of course, is desirable, but how does that competition wherein one is so strong as to drive all others out of existence differ from monopoly? Such a corporation, in my humble judgment, would present the very strong lineaments of a trust in itself.

Nevertheless, I present this subject with the suggestion that there ought to be a more specific statute declaring the plain meaning of the law, as between these two constructions.

While upon this subject, I will further suggest that many happy changes could be made in the several subdivisions themselves. I specially call attention to Subdivision 39, in the following language, to wit: "The establishment of land companies, to buy, own, sell and convey real estate in any State or foreign country; but such company shall only own such real estate in this State as may be necessary for its office." This subdivision, in my humble judgment, ought to be summarily repealed.

It purports to create a corporation for the purpose of operating in other States and other countries in a given business, and emphatically forbids such corporations from operating in the State of Texas. It seems to be conceded by all lawyers who have studied the subject of corporations and their creation that this Subdivision 39 is a blight on our incorporating statute.

PERMIT TO FOREIGN CORPORATIONS.

I beg to call your attention to the fact that this same Article 643, apparently applicable only to domestic corporations, prescribes a name, and coupled with Article 642 of the Revised Statutes, a purpose for which it may be formed, a place where its business is to be transacted, and the number of directors, besides other provisions not necessary to mention. In this conjunction, I beg to make a comparison with Article 745 as to foreign corporations, showing a very clear though evidently unintentional advantage to foreign corporations.

This statute, Article 745, nowhere prescribes the purpose for which foreign corporations should be admitted to do business in this State. I conclude that it was never the intention of the laws of this State or its policy to allow foreign corporations to come into the State and operate in the development of fields of industry that are not opened to domestic corporations. I made it a rule, therefore, not to grant a permit to any foreign corporation for a purpose for which the statutes did not admit the formation of a domestic corporation. Yet there is not actually any statutory line to this effect.

Again, there is no statute requiring that foreign corporations shall in any way state the place or places where their business is to be transacted. In this latter respect, I have been compelled to yield foreign corporations the advantage. I believe that I have authority of law to say that a foreign corporation should not be permitted to do a business in this State that a domestic corporation is not permitted to do, but I have no authority of law whatsoever to require a foreign corporation coming into the State to declare its place or places of business. I will, therefore, suggest that Article 745 ought to be so amended as to require foreign corporations to submit its application duly executed and acknowledged by the proper officers of the corporation for permit to do business in this State, which application should set forth the name of the corporation; where incorporated; and, as a purpose for which it wishes to do business in Texas, some one of the purposes named in the incorporating statutes authorizing the formation of domestic corporations; and the place or places where its business is to be operated and transacted; the number of its directors and their names and residences; that it is permitted by the State where it is incorporated to do the same business for which it makes application for permit to do in this State, and is at the time of such application actually engaged in such business in the State of its creation; and that it is accompanied by certified copy of its original articles of incorporation, together with all amendments to the same up to the date of its application, together with sworn statement as to amount of capital stock. In other words; the suggestions that I have made in the way of an amendment to Article 745 are the embodiment of the rule of the department applicable to the matter that I announced upon coming into the office, and which, in fact, has saved the State much money, and the department much inconvenience. However, I recognize the fact that my department rule is not of as much force as is necessary. It is a recognized rule that corporations ought not to be allowed to be incorporated in one State solely for the purpose of doing business in some other State, yet there are many instances of this today in existence. The proposition herein above stated, requiring said corporation to show that they are actually engaged in the State of their creation in the business which they desire to do in this State will correct this evil.

DECREASING CAPITAL STOCK.

I call your attention further to the fact that there is no statute of the State of Texas expressly authorizing a domestic corporation to decrease the amount of its capital stock. In the absence of such a statute, it is ruled by the Attorney General that a corporation created in the State of Texas cannot reduce its capital stock. Many of the other States have statutes providing for the reduction of the capital stock of corporations created in such States.

To effect this end, therefore, it has become a method of corporations created in this State to go into voluntary dissolution, and surrender their franchise. This, in law, closes the existence of that corporation, and thereupon the same stockholders and persons immediately form a new corporation, with the same property and assets as belonged to the old corporation, perhaps taking identically the same name as the old corporation; and perhaps presenting articles of incorporation identical with the former articles, except that the capital stock is reduced to the point where it was wished. I am advised by the Attorney General that there is no law whatsoever in Texas preventing this proceeding, whether intended for the mere purpose of reducing capital stock or for any other purpose.

DISSOLUTION OF CORPORATIONS.

I further call attention to the fact that there is no method provided by the statutes of the State of Texas by which a corporation for private profit may voluntarily go into dissolution. Article 680 of the Revised Statutes provides that a corporation may be dissolved in two ways: first, by the expiration of the time limited in its charter, and second, by judgment of dissolution rendered by court of competent jurisdiction. Of course there is a third method—the common law rule—by which corporations can go into voluntary dissolution, but this is only by the unanimous vote of the stockholders. It appears to be held almost uniformly by the courts that any corporation for private profit in which the public have no interest may go into voluntary dissolution at any time after payment of all of its debts by the unanimous vote of its stockholders. Many of the States have provided statutes by which less than the unanimous vote of the stockholders may dissolve a corporation before the expiration of the time limited in its charter. It is often the case that a corporation once formed runs for a few years; the parties get dissatisfied with it, and some of the stockholders pass away, pay no further attention to the business; and yet, during all this time, the corporate account is held on the books of this department, the taxes and charges accumulating against them, and upon final presentation of the matter to those who still remain and who desire to pay all taxes and charges, and to have the account upon the books of this department finally closed, and to dissolve, they find it impracticable to get a unanimous resolution from all of the stockholders. Many different reasons may contribute to this result; it may be that some of the stockholders are removed and their address unknown, and it may be that some are insolvent and don't care, and refuse to take any action.

Upon this subject of the voluntary dissolution of corporations, I would suggest another phase. The above suggestions are made to show the necessity of a statute, providing additional methods for corporations going into dissolution. The power which corporations have now under the law of the land of going into voluntary dissolution by the unanimous vote of the stockholders might also need some attention in consideration of the fact that it has been suggested that this proceeding can be used for evil purposes. Certainly it is an evil, if a corporation resorts to the common law method of voluntary dissolution for the purpose of evading the laws of the State, and if corporations or persons forming the same do resort to such a method for such a purpose, there certainly ought to be some statutory provision made whereby it may be prevented and may be punished when done.

I do not desire, however, to do more than suggest this subject, feeling that considerations and conclusions upon the same more properly come from another source. Being an executive officer, charged only with administering the law as it is, I have at all times pursued the policy of becoming advised as to what the law directs and then perform that direction. The faithful execution of the law is, in my opinion, the best method of developing and showing the law's defects where there are defects. One who essays to administer the law as it ought to be as contradistinguished from what it is assumes to be both law-maker and administerer of the law.

NAMES OF CORPORATIONS.

I further suggest that a statute ought to be enacted preventing the operation in this State of two corporations with the same name, or names so similar as to be calculated to mislead. The existence of two corporations with the same name, or such similar names, is always calculated to mislead the public, and is also calculated to create confusion in the collection of taxes. There is such a statute in this State applying to insurance laws, but none applying to other corporations.

CERTIFYING CHARTERS.

With reference to the administration of this department on the question of filing charters, I do wish earnestly to recommend that a statute ought to be provided applying the same rule to all other charters that is applied to the charters of railroad corporations, both as to the method of filing and as to the method of recording. I mean to say that it ought to be required by statute that every charter presented to the Secretary of State for filing shall have been previously presented to the Attorney General and shall receive his certificate that it is in compliance with the laws of the State of Texas. The matter of determining between the varied and multiplied desires of those who want to form corporations, and of the intent of the incorporating law itself, is a difficult matter necessarily needing the judgment of one advised in the law. If he be not an attorney, the Secretary of State cannot always wisely and accurately determine these matters. Even if he is an attorney the most difficult questions frequently arise for his determination compelling him to lay down his other duties as Secretary of State and go into the law books, or else to pass the matter up to the Attorney General. His other duties are such that he cannot take the first course, and must take the second, per force. For these reasons, a statute should be provided, as I say, putting all charters in the same order with the charters of railroad corporations upon this subject.

It would also be a notable improvement to conform the recording of these charters to the rule made by the statute for recording charters of railroad corporations. As to the latter, the statute requires only that they be copied upon the records of this department, and the originals returned with the proper certificate to the owner. As to the charters of private corporations for profit, the statutes require that they not only be filed and deposited in this department and kept here, but that in addition to this they be spread at length upon the records and a certified copy, as is construed by the Attorney General, delivered to the incorporators. It occurs to me that it would be quite sufficient to have the original charters spread upon the record, and the originals with the certificate attached returned to the incorporators, as in the case of railroad charters. This would require an amendment to Article 645 of the Revised Statutes.

GENERAL FEES.

I further call attention to the fact that the fees provided in Articles 3328 and 4651 of the Revised Statutes do not appear to be adequate to the service therein required. Article 3328 provides that written contracts for conditional sale, leases or hire of railroad equipments and rolling stock by which the purchase money is agreed to be paid in the future, etc., etc., shall be recorded in this department, as shall also be recorded a declaration of the payment of such purchase money when the payment is made. For service for each of these cases, a fee of $5.00 is provided, except where such declaration of payment is merely entered on the margin of the record. The fee of $5.00 for entering these mortgages at length on the record books is not sufficient. The statute should be so amended as to provide a fee of $5.00 in each case, provided that in the event the instrument consisted of more than 350 words there should be charged in addition thereto the regular fee of 15 cents per hundred words or fractional part thereof. This article is Section 1 of the Acts of 1879, and amended by the Act of 1897. Article 4651, Revised Statutes, of Section 12 of the Acts of 1840, as amended by the Acts of 1897, bears upon the same subject, and is to a similar effect. The suggestions made as to Article 3328 apply to Article 4651, for it appears that they are both amended similarly by the Acts of 1897.

I feel in duty bound to suggest also that Section 9 of the Acts of 1893, with reference to registration of railroad bonds in the office of the Secretary of State ought to provide a fee of $1.00 for each certificate of registration placed on such bond. It was the construction of the Attorney General of the State, as well as my own, that Article 2439 of the Revised Statutes providing a fee of $1.00 for every official certificate given by the Secretary of State, coupled with this Section 9 of the Acts of 1893, which constitutes Article 4584i of the Revised Statutes, imposed a fee of $1.00 for each certificate placed upon a railroad bond as required by said Article 4584i. However, the Supreme Court of the State, in the case of the G. H. & N. Ry. Co. vs. Hardy, Secretary of State, 93 Texas, held that while the endorsement required by Section 4584i to be placed upon the bond by the Secretary of State, constituted a certificate, nevertheless, that the statute did not impose a fee of $1.00 for the service. It has required almost the entire force of this department, together with the Secretary himself, for a whole day in the service of making these certificates for one issue in instances in the recent past. I make the suggestion that such certificates ought to be made to come within the rule of Article 2439, imposing a fee of $1.00 for each certificate for the benefit of the State.

I also wish to call attention to the fact that there is no statute in the State of Texas outside of the two articles, to wit: Articles 3328 and 4651, which provides fees to be charged by the Secretary of State for the benefit of the State for recording instruments in this department. There are many instruments required by statutes to be recorded in this department besides those hereinabove named; and it is likely that new statutes may be biennially made by successive Legislatures, making such requirements for the benefit of the people. Article 2438 of the Revised Statutes is a general statute, providing fees that may be charged by the officers named for certified copies, the office of the Secretary of State being among the number; but it does not contain a provision for a charge for recording instruments. It provides a charge of 15 cents per hundred words for making copies of records. I suggest it ought to be so amended as to provide a charge of 15 cents per hundred words for recording instruments where not otherwise provided by the statute.

ORGANIZATION OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

I call attention to Article 3275, relating to the organization of the House of Representatives. Instead of providing for the call of the counties, it ought to provide for a call of the representative districts, by the counties composing them. Articles 3276, 3277 and 3278 are incongruous. They seem to imply two things without definitely leaving either certain; and they are that the credentials upon which the House is organized (1) are to be presented by the members or (2) that the Secretary of State must furnish the roll of members who have credentials entitling them to participation in the organization.

These statutes ought to be so amended as to provide that after the call of the roll of representative districts, that then the Secretary of State should make a roll of members from the returns made to him by the returning officers of the State and have such roll called. Then he should be required to call for the credentials of members of any district that had not been enrolled by him and upon presentation of such credentials, if they are lawful and regular, that the Secretary of State should add such names to the roll and have them called.

Then the statutes should prescribe that to each member on such list of members the Secretary of State should administer the oath prescribed by the Constitution.

Such changes would make certain these statutes on the organization of the House, and carry out the intent of the lawmakers; for I am advised by the Attorney General that in the organization of the House the Secretary of State is made by the law the sole judge of who is entitled to vote in its proceedings up to the time that the Speaker, elected, takes the Speaker's seat.

ANTI-TRUST LAW.

On the subject of statutes, I close my observation by calling your attention to the anti-trust statute, approved May 25, 1899. Of course you understand that I discuss only those provisions of this statute which devolve a duty upon the Secretary of State; just as, in discussing the statutes hereinabove, I have not presumed to mention any statutes except such as apply to the duties and requirements of this office.

Section 8 of the anti-trust law is the chief section that has reference to the duties of the Secretary of State, and contains the form of what is known as the anti-trust affidavit. That portion of the section next after the affidavit proceeds to direct the Secretary of State upon the failure of the corporation to comply with the statute, to certify to the prosecuting attorney of the district or county wherein said "corporation is located," etc.; then it proceeds to prescribe the duty of the prosecuting attorney. With this latter feature, as to the duty of the attorney, of course I am not officially concerned, and presume to make no suggestion, but call attention to the fact that there is nothing in all of our statutes that shows in what district or county a foreign corporation, operating in this State under its permit "is located." Therefore, there is no direction to the Secretary of State as to how he shall certify the failure of foreign corporations to comply with this act. As a matter of practice, simply as the best I could do, I have certified these facts as to foreign corporations to the Attorney General himself.

Again, I call attention to the fact that Section 8 makes it the duty of of the Secretary of State to address to an officer named "of each incorporated company doing business in this State a letter of inquiry as to whether the said corporation has all or any part of its business or interest in or with any trust, combination or association of persons or stockholders, as named in the preceding provision of this act, and to require an answer under oath of the president, secretary or treasurer or any director of said company. A form of affidavit shall be enclosed in said letter of inquiry as follows," etc. Here then follows the anti-trust affidavit. It will be noted that the provision of Section 8 quoted, preceding the affidavit, does not say that such letter of the Secretary of State shall require said officer of the corporation to make oath in the language of that affidavit, and the first line of Section 8 after the conclusion of the affidavit uses this language: "And on refusal to make oath in answer to said inquiry," etc. The point is that the statute does not explicitly require the given corporation to take the oath prescribed in the blank form. The question has therefore arisen: suppose one of the officers named in the statute of a corporation should simply send to the Secretary of State within thirty days after the making of his inquiry an answer, simply saying, for example:

"In answer to the said letter, I say that the corporation (naming it) has done none of the things prohibited in the anti-trust Act of May 25, 1899" (or any other simple words to similar effect, and should swear to it).

It occurs to me that that portion of Section 8 preceding the affidavit, and that portion following it, fails to certainly fix upon such president, secretary, treasurer or director of a company the necessity of making such oath as is prescribed in the blank form of affidavit quoted in said Section 8.

With these observations I conclude what I have to say on the subject of the statutes. I feel that had I the time to have more thoroughly examined the subject, the review presented might have been more satisfactory; certainly it would have been more satisfactory to me could I have had the time to have traced the history of the original acts themselves out of which the defective articles of the Revised Statutes herein quoted are framed. It is easily understood that most of these inaccuracies arise from acts amending former acts, and from changes of conditions and circumstances. A thorough study of the original acts would bring clearly to view the original of these discrepancies, but I have not deemed it necessary to profoundly set forth the causes in an effort merely to show conditions.

CLERICAL FORCE.

In replying to the inquiry of Mr. Comptroller Finley, asking for an estimate for this department for the next fiscal term of two years, I suggested an increase of salaries of all clerks, and an additional clerk for this department. I have recommended the increase in salary of the Chief Clerk to be \$1800 a year instead of \$1550 as it is now, and have recommended the salary of all other clerks at \$1200 a year each. I beg to call attention in this conjunction to the fact that the Chief Clerk in the Treasury Department is now receiving \$1800 a year, and in the estimate furnished the Comptroller by the Treasurer, his salary is recommended at \$2000 a year; that the Chief Clerk in the Comptroller's Department receives \$1700 a year, and in the estimate furnished by the Comptroller himself, it is recommended to be \$2000 a year; that the Chief Clerk in the Department of Agriculture, Insurance, Statistics and History receives \$1700 a year, and in the estimate furnished the Comptroller by the Commissioner of Insurance, etc., his salary is recommended at \$1800 a year; that the Chief Clerk in the General Land Office receives a salary of \$1700 a year, and in the estimate furnished the Comptroller by the Commissioner he recommends \$1800 a year. A comparison between the salaries received by the various assistant clerks in the State Department and those received by the various assistant clerks performing, generally speaking, similar duties in other department, also shows a great discrepancy to the disadvantage of the clerks in the State Department. There are but four assistant clerks in this department, two of whom receive only \$95.00 per month and two receive \$79.16 $\frac{2}{3}$ per month. It is unnecessary to go further into figures. I believe that during your Excellency's administration the clerical forces of all the departments have done splendid work, and without disparaging any of them, I do not hesitate to say that the clerical force in the State Department has been unexcelled by any. For the practically two years since January, 1899, this department has been crowded with work; the clerks have worked faithfully and diligently, with duties, as heavy and responsible, devolving upon them as upon the like clerks in other departments.

The total appropriation to the State Department for the year 1899 was $10,440 only, of which $8340 was for the salaries of the clerks and the Secretary of State. The appropriation for the year 1900 was $9940, of which $8090 only was for salaries of clerks and Secretary of State. Besides the showing of increased results in this department for the past two years over previous terms in the general features of the department, I would beg to call your attention in connection with this showing of appropriations to the fact hereinbefore stated, that since January 18, 1899, the day of my incumbency in office, to this day, being twenty-three and one-half months, this department has collected and paid into the treasury of the State $294,642.41, which is $117,653.34 in excess of the receipts of the department for the next preceding twenty-five months. It will be understood that so far from suggesting that the salaries of chief clerks and assistant clerks in other departments have been excessive, my suggestion is just to the contrary; that in my opinion they have not been excessive, but I do wish earnestly to present the fact that the clerks of the State Department are as intelligent, as capable, as efficient and as diligent, and, clerk to clerk, have as much arduous labor to perform, and have performed, clerk to clerk, as much arduous labor as the clerks in any other department. I believe they at least ought to be put on an equality with clerks in other departments in the matter of salaries; that is is but simple justice to these clerks and to this department.

With reference to the additional clerk, suggestion of which, as stated, was made in my estimate to the Comptroller, I feel that little is necessary to be said in addition to what is already said. The clerical force now in this department being efficient, and being on the average equal to that of any other department, not disparaging those in other departments, is yet not sufficient for the work of the department. The consequence of this is that the head of the department finds himself often necessarily engaged in doing clerical work. In truth, this condition has deprived me of much time which otherwise I would have devoted to improvements in the records and appointments of the department. The system of record books now still in vogue is an old system and far behind the improved suggestions of the day, which could have been put into operation in this department without any additional cost whatsoever to the State, and to the great convenience of the department, and advantage to the public. Not only this, but the system of records of archives of the government is one that was formulated in the early days and it is believed is susceptible of great improvements, whereby valuable documents could be more readily and more easily handled, with greater certainty and security and no additional cost. In many other respects, the records and appointments of the department could be highly improved had the head of the department more time to devote to a comprehensive study of the interests of the public in the convenience and modernness of these matters. The additional clerk, therefore, is not only necessary to keep pace with the amount of clerical work daily to be done in the department, but also necessary to give the head of the department more time for supervision in those things that need his attention, and his alone.

Respectfully submitted,

D. H. HARDY,
Secretary of State.
